From the President

Dear POS members and friends:

Thank you to Gail Miller for teaching us your "Tricks of the Trade." Everyone learned so much. We all look forward to having you again in the future.

June is our 50th anniversary potluck photo contest registration and election. June is also our renewal deadline for all members. Fill out the membership application with your check or cash payment and bring it with you to the meeting to receive your membership plants. Bring your favorite main course, appetizer or salad and come hungry for the potluck extravaganza. You must be a member to enter the photo contest and have a digital high-resolution photo so that we may feature it on the October auction poster. If you are interested in running for a position on our board you still have time to throw in your hat. There are positions available. If you are interested in assisting one of our board members to help get job done please let us know. We are in need of a holiday party chair person. No experience necessary.

See you at the meeting.

As a reminder, all plants brought in for the show table should be free of pests and diseases. Take some time to stake and clean the leaves of your plants, this allows for better presentation. Also, please do not bring newly-purchased plants for the show table.

The show table is an outlet for members to share the great job they have done in growing and flowering their orchids; therefore, please respect the unwritten rule of owning and growing an orchid for a minimum of 6 months.

NOTES FROM OUR MAY 2018 SPEAKER GAIL MILLER

The Art of Growing Orchids

Gail Miller of Miller's Way Orchids gave a very interesting talk about the art of growing orchids. The most important tips for successful growing are:

Know your light and water – that is 90% of good growing

Grow in layers: plants requiring higher light are grown at the top layer, shading plants with lower light requirements below. For Example, vandas at the top, Cattleyas underneath and phals below that.

Fertilize at every watering

Use time-release fertilizer in addition to your normal fertilizer

Vandas

Vandas flower best in high light. If you are growing in less than ideal light conditions, hang your Vandas upside down for about a month to help initiate a flower spike.

Cattleyas

Grow Cattleyas in any medium light that is working for you. If your Cattleyas are a deep shade of green and not flowering well, increase the amount of light. Remember, more light means your plants need more water and more fertilizer as well!

Dendrobiums

Dendrobiums are the only genera that will bloom from the same growth multiple times.

As they can become quite large and unmanageable, Gail recommends cutting off the new growth after flowering and laying it on a bed of lava rock for 6 months or so. The can will generally produce one new plant on every node. Additionally, the new growth on the mother plant will be smaller the following year so this is a good way to keep larger plants under control.

Oncidiums

This genera is very easy to grown and will bloom 3-4 times per year if you fertilize every time you water.

Phalaenopsis

Phals like to stay moist, but not wet. Do not get water on the leaves or you risk crown rot.

GAIL'S TIPS AND TRICKS

I think this was everyone's favorite part of Gail's talk! Even those of us who have been growing forever learned a few new things.

No-Fail Dividing of Cattleyas:

Divide your Cattleyas while they are still potted. Cut through the rhizome, smear the cut with fungicide paste and mark the cut with nail polish (I like to slip a plant tag into the cut). Leave the plant alone for three months or so before repotting. This will prevent the plant from going into shock and delaying the next bloom cycle. Easy!

Increasing the flower count on your Cattleyas:

Make a cut partially through the rhizome to promote new growth along the back of the plant. Remember not to cut all the way through!

Stimulate Vandas to keiki:

Crack the stem of the plant with pliers to stimulate keikis on bare stems. A great solution if you have ended up with palm tree Vandas after this past winter!

Make your own keiki paste:

Buy a tube of lanolin (available at any pharmacy) and ask your doctor for some birth control pill samples. Crush one birth control pill into 4" of lanolin. Voila, homemade keiki paste!

Controlling thrips:

Mix 3 parts 70% rubbing alcohol to 1 part water and spray on the buds. This will also help with mealy bugs and boisduval scale (the white scale, not the hard brown scale)

Homemade Superthrive:

Purchase liquid baby vitamins from the dollar store and add 10 drops per gallon of water.
